

Surreal Predictions

"You will discover a hidden door in your home that leads to a library of unwritten books."

"A talking bird will reveal a long-lost family secret—but only if you offer it a cracker first."

"Your shadow will start moving independently for one hour each night. It knows things you don't."

"A mysterious package will arrive, containing a key to a lock that does not yet exist."

"You will dream of a place that does not exist—until you stumble upon it in real life."

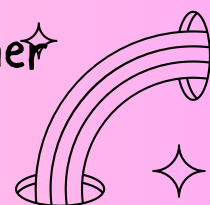

"Every clock you see tomorrow will show a different time, but somehow you will always be on schedule."

"An inanimate object in your home will whisper valuable advice at precisely the right moment."

"You will meet someone who swears they knew you in another life... and they will have proof."

"The next time you spill coffee, the pattern will spell out a message meant just for you."

"You will soon receive a letter written in invisible ink. The sender is someone you've never met—yet."